Technical Examples

EventPlan | Github

EventPlan is a user based event organization app, which allows you to select a range of dates for a potential event, with the one that gets the most votes from attendees becoming the scheduled date. User authentication is handled by either Google via OAuth or email and password strategy. Both strategies use Passport middleware.

My role: Backend (Database, API, and Authentication)

Technologies/Frameworks: React, Node, Express, Passport, MongoDB, Mongoose

Project Three-Sixty | Github

Project Three-Sixty is a simple job costing application, which allows for user input of job details and displays graphic reports. User authentication is handled via Passport middleware.

My role: Backend (Routing and Authentication)

Technologies/Frameworks: Node, Express, Passport, MySQL, Sequelize

Where's the Show | Github

Where's the Show allows a user to quickly call up a list of concerts that are taking place in their area (via geolocation and Google Places) over the next few days and gives a link to ticket purchasing and a related YouTube video.

My role: Backend (JavaScript and AJAX calls)

Technologies/Frameworks: Materialize, JavaScript, AJAX, Moment.js, Ticketmaster and Google APIs
